

Jewish Fly

A guy offers to buy a drink for an attractive young woman seated at a bar.

She gives him the green light, so he whispers to the bartender to make up a Cosmopolitan for her -- and to put some Spanish fly in the drink.

The bartender whispers back to say he's all out of Spanish fly and all he has left is Jewish fly. "Jewish fly?" Shrugging his shoulders, the guy says "OK, put some of that in her drink."

As she sips the drink, she gets more and more cosy, she is really warming up to the guy.

Finally she finishes the drink,

leans over,

and in a low, slow, and

sexy voice,

whispers

in his ear,

"Let's go shopping."